OLD OPERA FEUD AGAIN

Hammerstein and Conried Minterstein Conried in the younger generation is provided by the Columbia University Players in this year's show, "On Your Way." The numbers of the farmage tendencies of the Morningside Heights students. Oscar Hammerstein, 2d, grandson of the impresario, and Elliott H. Sperling, naphew of the late Heinrich Connied, have prominent parts in the show, and their followers are wagering large amounts on their chances of making individual hits.

The rivalry begins publicly Monday at the Hotel Astor, and will continue during the week's run of "On Your Way." Although warm friends, each is determined to outdo the other in the specialties and songs assigned to them. The number of floral appreciations and encores will settle the winner.
